We Are Prepared

It seems to be the general opinion that all good merchandise is going to be much higher in price this coming season, and we wish to say such is not the case with us. We have bought more goods for this season (have them in our store to-day) than for several years and the prices are the same as before, except on very few items, such as Overalls, that we could not purchase ahead.

We do advise early buying, as it is very hard to find desirable goods in the market to-day, for at once delivery.

You can come to us for your Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishings, expecting as good values and service as ever, and you'll get it. If not, your money back for the asking.

Keep off the grass. It's beginning to grow.

We can believe the report that Villa is "half-shot."

With its labor trouble settled, is Quincy sore at Barre any longer?

Apparently the time is past for the Turks to twist the Lion's tail in Mesopotamia.

The same spendthrifts of effort are trying to put a "k" on Merrimack who tried to put an "h" on Plattsburg.

Seventeen years in the Vermont state prison for manslaughter is calculated to make one man do a good deal of thinking.

France and Great Britain have taken a new course—they are telling the world whenever they destroy a hostile submarine. Evidently the change in tactics is intended to counteract the influence of the reports of torpedoing of commerce ships, to allay the fear that Germany's submarine campaign is, after all, accomplishing its purpose in large part.

No, we take Colonel Roosevelt's word for it—he would not "pussfoot" round if he, perchance, should run for president. He would wear spiked shoes and they would come down with a distinct thud, accompanied by the while with violent ejaculations which might be mistaken for distant reverberation of thunder. No, Theodore, you are no "pussfoot."

The early experience of the United States with digible airships demonstrates that we have much to learn about the unwieldy things before we get the hang of them. Virtually, we are in the primer class in this respect, while Germany and other European countries are far advanced in their knowledge and experience. It might be added, too, that the same applies to almost all other branches of modern warfare.

In case the United States should suddenly and unwillingly be thrust into war with an imperious nation having double the American navy and 10 times the American army, what would those Columbia university and City of New York college pacifists, who are yelling themselves blue in the face, do about it? They would cry: "Please do not strike us; we are unprepared. But take our gold and we will be your vassals forever." That would be a fine situation for the greatest republic of the world to be caught in; yet it is just what the ultra-pacifist theorists would lead us into. Their theory of the universal brotherhood of man is splendid; no one doubts that; but, unfortunately, we are facing real human nature, much of it composed of hideous design, rather than a condition which we might like to have exist in the world. We cannot judge the mental workings of other nationalities by our own minds; nor their hearts by our hearts. For the time-being, the only salvation of the United States is readiness for very possible eventualities.

A MEXICAN BLUFF.

It is up to President Wilson if he will permit himself to be bluffed out of Mexico by a man who claims to be at the head of the government in that badly disorganized country. Any weak-kneed policy now, after the United States has taken a decided step, would bring the Washington government into tremendous disrepute among the nations of the world. The United States considered the policy quite thoroughly before committing itself to the present course and it must have recognized the possibility of just such a contingency arising as the present. We have shaped our course. Let us stick to it.

Meanwhile, the American troops under intrepid commanders are continuing their pursuit of the wily bandit chief who had the effrontery to invade American territory, murder Americans and set the firebrand to American property at the New Mexico town of Columbus. The commanders of the American troops have received their orders to kill or capture Villa and they will not deviate from that course until actually dragged away from the trail, or until their aim is accomplished. General Pershing is not a great stickler for red tape or ceremony; and it is just as well, considering the nature of the conditions under which the American army is working, that such a man is at the head of the forces on foreign territory. Pershing will call the Mexican bluff if it is up to him; and he will continue to perform his duty if not hampered by authority at Washington. There is reason to hope that the authority at Washington will not hamper him at this crucial period of the pursuit of an international menace.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Hospital Aid association was held in Aldrich hall yesterday afternoon, with a good attendance. The reports of the various officers showed the association to be in excellent condition. It was voted to pay an outstanding debt of $150 for the benefit of the maternity ward at the hospital, which left the association free of debt and with a good balance in the treasury. It was also voted to give the flower committee $15 to use during the summer at their discretion. Since the last meeting of the association the Arts and Crafts club has presented the hospital six baby dresses, which have been turned over to the matron.

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Center Bates of Liberty street tendered her a postcard shower yesterday in honor of her 70th birthday. Nearly 70 cards were received, a large number of them being from members of Ruth chapter, No. 33, O. E. S., of which she is a member. Mrs. Bates entertained her friends at her home yesterday afternoon and evening and served dainty refreshments of tea and cakes. Two birthday cakes were presented, one from the neighbors and one from Mrs. George Bates. An interesting feature of the gathering was the fact that Mrs. Bates received 25 or 30 callers while seated in the same chair in which she was brought as an infant from Milwaukee, Wis., nearly 70 years ago. Tea was served to the guests from an old-fashioned goblet, which is another of Mrs. Bates' early recollections.

Dr. Henry Lawrence Southwick, president of Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, is to give a reading of the Shakespearean play, "Richard III." in the Universalist church Tuesday evening, April 18.

George X. Crowley, night clerk at Hotel Barre, left the city to-day for Providence, R. I., where he is to spend a vacation of two weeks. During his absence Munroe M. Wilson will act as night clerk at the hotel.

Russell Collins, an East Montpelier farmer, has consented to let the Paramount Picture Co. enter his sugar woods with a cinematograph as soon as the sap season reaches its height. An earlier appearance of the moving picture men was prevented by the heavy layer of snow in the Collins maple bush.

H. M. Farnham, the horse man, will hold his next big combination auction sale of horses and other property at his stables in Montpelier, Vt., on Friday, April 14, 1916, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; 30 to 40 fresh horses, from 25 to 40 commission horses; among this lot is a big consignment from the New Hampshire lumber camps. You do not want to miss this sale, as it will be a big one. C. F. Smith, auctioneer—adv.

Variety is the spice of the current issue of The Record, the interesting little monthly periodical that records things among the students and alumni of Goddard seminary. Winter activities on the hilltop are recounted in an illuminating way, the sporting pages, especially reviewing carefully the achievements of the school on the basketball court.

Dr. John A. Riddell, A. B. of Chicago, a member of the class of 1872, calls up additional reminiscences in the second paper of a series of alumni recollections which he has promised to contribute to The Record. Much that is ancient history in the annals of Goddard yields to the gentle touch of the Chicago physician and straightway holds the attention of the reader regardless of how far removed he may be from the days of Goddard's infancy. A prose contribution from A. A. J. and "Extracts from the Journal of Robert" are among the more creditable contributions to the number. Five pages are devoted to locals and an ambitious homily on New Year resolutions bulks large in the editorial matter.

Bird lovers, on the alert just now for the "first fine, careless rapture" of their favorite feathered friends, may be interested in the following list of bird books available at the Aldrich public library: "Birds of Village and Field," Florence Merriman; "Birds that Hunt and Are Hunted," Mrs. Fannie Eckstrom; "The Home Life of Wild Birds," Francis H. Herrick; "Popular Handbook of the Birds of the United States," Thomas Nuttall; "Sport of Bird Study," Herbert K. Job; "Adventure of Cock Robin and His Mate," Richard Kearton; "Methods of Attracting Birds," Gilbert Trafton; "Pocket Guide to the Common Land Birds of New England," Mary Alice Wilcox; "Field Book of Wild Birds and Their Music," Ferdinand S. Matthews; "Village and Field Birds," Florence Merriman.

Prof. K. R. B. Flint, who is in New York during the Easter holidays in the interest of Norwich university, reports his enthusiastic reception at the various high schools. Professor Flint is accompanied by Cadet Major Arthur D. Edmunds and Captain Leon H. Ryder.

Prof. J. H. Sasserano of the language department of Norwich university is spending the Easter holidays in Boston and vicinity in the interests of the university. Professor Sasserano has been giving lectures at high schools and has met with a very enthusiastic reception. He reports that a number of Boston high school men are to attend the junior military training camp, and that a number of business men and college men are also interested in the Norwich business men's and college men's camp.

Norwich's Record-Breaking Rifle Team. In the intercollegiate match with the University of West Virginia all five men constituting the rifle team made possible scores of 200 out of 200, and a total score of 1,000 out of 1,000. Not only did all the men firing on the team make perfect scores, but three out of the five substitutes also made possible scores of 200. The total score of the substitute team was 980 out of a possible 1,000, or for the 10 men shooting a score of 1,980 out of a possible 2,000. The score of the substitute team was well up among the best scores of the intercollegiate match, but was inferior to the scores of the regular team. This total score is probably a record-breaker in the United States, for it is doubted whether there ever has been any other team in the United States having eight men shoot possible scores out of 19 men firing. In the match with the University of California, the last match of the intercollegiate shoot, the team also made a score of 1,000 out of a possible 1,000. Norwich's record in the present intercollegiate shooting shows that the team has on five occasions made perfect scores. This is also probably a record-breaker. These matches are all the more remarkable when it is borne in mind that most of the colleges with which Norwich is shooting have from three to 30 times the number of men from which to select. Another remarkable thing about the Norwich team is that the coaching, what little there is being done, is done by those regularly connected with the university. A great many of the intercollegiate teams have professional coaches, usually expert shots from the United States army.
